MY LADY (By Ray Clarke Rose.)

My Lady has returned to town
And brought a sylvan sweetness hither;
Her cheeks reflect a rustic brown
That city ways too soon will wither.
But roses glow beneath the tan—
The blooms that dazzled on last winter—
And soon the potent social ban
To proper pink and white will tint her.

My Lady has a graceful pace
That hints of walks in highways rural,
But soon Dame Fashion will displace
The stride with mincing intramural.
The freedom of the woods is gone,
And in the "season's" flare and fashion
My Lady, brilliant as the dawn,
A queen will be for gems to flash on.

Ah, me! we strolled at the "resort,"
And talked in accents low and tender.
But now, of course, I must cavort,
With arm about her waist, or lead her
The friendly guidance of my hand
Throughout the german's weary mazes,
And trust to luck she'll understand
The love that warms my formal phrases.

WEDDINGS.

A very pretty and quiet wedding was celebrated Saturday morning at the Episcopal church at half past seven, when Miss Mary Marks and F. O. Stain were united in marriage by the Rev. Henry Easter. The bride entered on the arm of Charles Lucas, who gave her away. She had no attendants, the groom's best man being M. Boas. Mrs. Stain was handsomely gowned in a traveling suit of gray, with blue chiffon waist and gray hat to match; she carried bridal roses. The young couple left for a short outing in Cloudcroft, and on their return will be at home temporarily at 901 North Kansas street. The bride is the daughter of the late superintendent S. C. Marks, of the G. H. & S. A. railroad, and has lived for a number of years with her guardian, Mrs. F. H. Bigelow, of 1275 Prospect avenue. The groom is well known and popular in local railroad circles.

On Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Haymon Krupp, Miss Rose Silverman and Victor Caruso were united in marriage, the Rev. M. Zielonka officiating. The bride's dress was a beautiful embroidered lingerie over white silk, and in place of the usual flowers, she carried a bible bound in white moire, the gift of her parents.

After the ceremony an elaborate wedding supper followed. The table was most striking in the bridal colors of white, with white roses and ferns in a cut glass vase at the centerpiece. Place cards were dainty sketches of brides heads. Mr. and Mrs. Caruso left on the Golden State limited for California. Points of interest, the bride's going away gown being of navy blue, with hat to match.

Mrs. Caruso is the sister of Mrs. Haymon Krupp, having been a visitor in El Paso for some time. The groom is the traveling salesman of the Krupp clothing store.

This evening at eight o'clock, Miss Nellie Leighton and Roland Gilchrist will be married at St. Clement's church.

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Frank Powers entertained delightfully at her beautiful home on Mesa avenue with a surprise shower in honor of Miss Nellie Leighton, who will be married tonight. Miss Leighton was led to believe that she was to be taken on an automobile ride, but when she entered the house, and was told to go into the parlor, a darkened room was lighted as she appeared, and she saw nearly 30 of her friends waiting for her appearance. Games followed, one called "kitchen quiz" being most amusing, for which Miss Leighton and Miss Marguerite Darbyshire won prizes. After this, fortunes were told by means of small hearts, on which the fortunes were written.

Miss Leighton was then called to the door, and a large suit case delivered to her by messenger, which contained all manner of beautiful and useful things for this popular bride.

After all had admired, adjournment followed to the dining room, where a delicious luncheon was served. The table was most attractively decorated, ropes of delicate evergreen radiating from the chandelier downward to the table corners, and others upward to the corners of the room. From the center of the chandelier to a cut glass bowl of flowers, in the center of the table, into which they dipped, swung ribbons of hearts and dainty cupids. Ferns and cupidids were scattered over the snowy cloth.

Pretty place cards, with a picture of a bride and groom, and the date of the "showers," and tiny golden slippers filled with salted almonds, completed a most charming table. Mrs. Powers was most ably assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Horace Blum.

Those present were: Mesdames I. J. Ayers, T. R. Frances, Harry Swain, H. W. Blum, Will Sachs, M. G. Harding; Misses Esther and Marguerite Darbyshire, Nellie, Gertrude and Mary Leighton, Rena Shea, Pearl Parry, Constance Pateman, Eva, Lilla and Edna Thomas, Beesie Webster, Sue Luter, Stella Lattner, Violet Atkin, Emily Glenn, Fannie Smith, Gertrude Adams, Ella Preston, Meta Ormsbee; Roland Gilchrist.

Oh, Naughty, Naughty; Pope Bans Hobble Skirt and Bathing Tights

El Paso Has Not Yet Met Them Face to Face, But Expects to.

El Paso has not yet seen the hobble skirt, not in its real modish extreme, but awaits it with some concern, for it is the sensation of many of the European countries and several of the larger American cities. Ministers have denounced it, societies have denounced it, and it has caused grief to many wearers, one girl having met her death in New York last week through being tripped on the stairs by one of the new creations.

The pope, the holy father of the Catholic church, has banned both the hobble skirt and a new bathing suit which is now the rage in Paris and some Italian seacoast resorts—the latter is nothing more than tights, but society women call them bathing suits.

The hobble skirt, from a photograph taken in Paris, and two pictures of the scanty bathing attire, which pope Pius X has assailed in a recent edict, are here shown. The holy father has sent a request to all of his bishops to publish pastoral letters disapproving of these prevailing feminine fashions.

The priests of Milan, Turin and Venice, have already denouncing the "scandalous attire" from the pulpit. The bathing costume, such as is commonly worn at Ostend, is said to be especially under the ban. The acquaintance of the pope with these styles and costumes has been made through publication, as etiquette requires that the most sombre costumes be worn by women during an audience.

Last May It Was Found that One-fifth of El Paso School Children Were Suffering from Defective Sight, When all that Was Necessary Was a Proper Pair of Glasses

Monday your small son or daughter trots off to school. From then until the Christmas Holidays the child's eyes are being pretty steadily used the greater part of the day. There are few "gray days" in El Paso, so El Paso schoolrooms are apt to have a plentiful supply of light.

If your child's eyes are perfectly normal, this continued use will do no harm. But, if your child has some slight eye defect, that defect is going to become a more and more serious trouble. The "eyestrain" headache will appear, and the end of the story is a complete breakdown of the child's health and a withdrawal from school.

Why take such chances? Bring the child down town tomorrow and have Dr. Horton make an examination. It will take but small amount of your time. If the eyes are all right, he will tell you so. If glasses are needed to correct some slight defect, he will fit them. Either way, you have the satisfaction of knowing that you have not trifled with a wonderful and very precious thing—the sight of your child.

TRIMMED HATS $5 AND $6

Many women feel that $5 or $6 is enough to pay for a street hat; some prefer three or four $5 hats to one $20 hat. To trim a hat successfully, to give it the right line, to have the quality of the materials the only essential difference between it and a $20 hat requires special genius—and it is fitting that the Hat Shop which for so many seasons has led El Paso in millinery, should establish a new standard in $5 and $6 hats—just as it did in finer millinery. Our buyer has just returned from the New York market with the newest millinery fads and fashions, the things that will afford you keen delight.
